

The Daily Courant.

Monday, March 16. 1719.

London, March 16.

On Saturday came in the Mail from Flanders of Tuesday, and that from France of Wednesday, and Yesterday the Mail from Holland of Tuesday.

From the Hague Courant, dated March 22.

Dantzick, March 9.

THE Secretary of this City sent lately by our Magistrate to Petersburg, returned hither a few Days ago; the Success of his Negotiation there is not publickly known. An Order has been published in Courland in the Czar's Name, forbidding the Nobility under severe Penalties to appear at Fraustat, in Obedience to the Summons they have received from the Republick of Poland.

Fraustat, March 9. Two Companies of the Regiment of the Electoral Prince arrived here the 5th Instant, and were quartered in the Suburbs. The same Day General Field-Marshal Count Flemming arrived here, and on the 6th came the Bishop of Cujavia, and the Great Chancellour of the Crown. The King of Poland arrived this Evening, accompanied by M. Watzdorf and Count Vitathum, his Privy Councillours; his Majesty took his Lodgings in the same House where he lay last Year. The Polish Senators and Ministers who are yet arrived, are only the Great Marshal of the Crown, and the Palatines of Kalisch, Brzesc, and Cujavia, the rest are daily expected. The Great Hall in our Town-House is sitting up for the Senate to meet in.

From the Hague Courant, dated March 22.

Stockholm, March 4. The States of this Kingdom continue assembled, they have congratulated the Queen on her Accession to the Crown; her Coronation is to be performed at Upsal the 14th Instant. Baron Gortz having received Sentence of Death the last Month, was on the 2d Instant carried in a Coach from his Prison to a Scaffold on the Northside of this City, accompanied by a Clergyman, with a Guard of 300 Horse. The Baron in his Passage thro' the Streets, looked with a composed Air expressing his Resignation, up to the Windows that were crowded with Spectators, and saluted many of them. Having mounted the Scaffold, he asked the Clergyman, whether he was permitted to say something to the People: But being answered, that it was time to turn his Thoughts to God, he called his Steward, who having stripped him below his Shoulders, the Executioner cut off his Head with an Ax at one Blow. His Corpse was immediately given to his Domesticks, who buried it. It is said the deceased made his own Epitaph a little before his Execution, which is in these Words; Mors Regis, Fides in Regem, est Mors mea. The King's Death, and my Trust in the King, are the Causes of my Death.

From the Amst. Courant, dated March 21.

Copenhagen, March 14. On the 12th Instant, the King declared the Prince Royal Colonel of the Life-Guards. Yesterday in the Afternoon Count de la Mark, Ambassadour of France to the Court of Sweden, arrived here, and went to Court in Count Gyldestein's Coach: It is believed he is to make Proposals for Peace on the part of Sweden, for which Reason, he is to stay here for some while. A Swedish Colonel is come over with that Minister, to notify to this Court in the Queen of Sweden's Name the Death of the late King her Brother, after which Notification the Court is to put on Mourning. This Colonel relates, that on the 2d Instant Baron Gortz was beheaded with an Ax at Stockholm, and that Count Vandernath was condemned to perpetual Imprisonment at Malsstrand near Gottenburg. They were obliged to hasten the Execution of the Baron for the Satisfaction of the People, who were vehemently incensed against him.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated March 21.

Hambourg, March 14. We hear from Mecklenburg, that after the Conjunction of the Troops of Wolfenbuttel with those of Hanover, near Wittenburg, General Bulaw marched with them to Swerin. The Governour of that Place made Dispositions to defend himself, and even fired with his Cannon upon the Troops of the Circle as they approached; but the Burghery being unwilling to have their Houses destroy'd, obliged the Governour to open the Gates of the Town, which General Bulaw entered the 11th Instant with three Regiments. General Swerin is retired to Rostock with the Duke's Troops under his Command, and seems resolved to defend himself there.

From the Amst. Courant, dated March 21.

Hambourg, March 17. Letters from Swerin advise, that General Bulaw after having taken Possession of that Town, summoned the Castle, in which lay a Captain with 100 Men, who refused to submit; but upon the throwing in of a few Bombs they surrendered that Evening. The Troops of Mecklenburg have carried off from the Duke's Demesnes all that might serve for the Subsistence of the Forces of the Circle; and the Russian Troops who are to quit the Territories of the Duke, commit such Barbarities in their March, as fill that unfortunate Country with the Misery and Cries of the ruined Inhabitants.

From the Amst. Courant, dated March 21.

Berlin, March 14. The Duke of Mecklenburg received two Days ago a Letter from his General, desiring further Instructions. It is discoursed the Duke is resolved to send one of his Ministers to General Bulaw to regulate the Terms of his Submission. He has desired this Court to grant to the Russian Troops whom he is sending back, free Passage through the Territories of Brandenburg, which he soon obtained. It is said that this Court will no more meddle with his Affairs. The Duke went two Days ago to Wittstock, on the Frontiers of his Territories, to meet his Dutches there, who it is believed will come to live with him at Oranienburg, in the Neighbourhood of this City, till his Affairs take a better Turn.

From the Amst. Courant, dated March 21.

Paderborn, March 15. The Chapter of this Bishoprick proceeded Yesterday to the Election of a Bishop, and chose the Duke Philip Maurice of Bavaria. Upon this Te Deum was sung in our Cathedral with the Sound of Trumpets and Kettle-Drums, a triple Discharge of the Cannon, and as many Volleys of the Burghery and Soldiers who were under Arms. The Imperial Privy Councillour and Commissary Count Mettsch, and the Ministers of the Electors of Cologne and Bavaria, Baron Plettenberg and Count Siebelsdorf assisted at that Solemnity. A Fountain ran with red and white Wine for the Populace, and the Rejoicings of the Day were concluded in the Evening with Illuminations and a Firework.

Paris, March 22. The Forces that are to march along our Coast from Havre de Grace to Calais, consist of 18 Battalions of Foot, and 16 Squadrons of Horse besides two Regiments of Dragoons. The Marquis de Senneterre who has been named Ambassadour to Great Britain, was to set out from hence last Night to take upon him the Command of that Body of Troops. Orders have been sent to the several Places where those Troops are quartered, for hastening their March towards the said Coast, and most of their Officers are already set out thither from this Place. It is reported, that the Persons who were seized last Week for having assisted at Divine Service in the Chapels of the Protestant Ambassadours, contrary to the Government's Prohibitions, are to the Number of 70. Those from among them who are called the New Converts, are to be transported to Mississipi, and the rest imprisoned for a certain Time. The Bishop of Montpellier, who was formerly exiled on Account of his having strongly set himself against the Constitution, has obtained Leave to return to this City.

London,

On Saturday an Express arrived from France, with Advice, that the late Duke of Ormond, with four Companies of Grenadiers, embarked in Spain at Port Passage near Fontarabia in Guipulcoa, on board two Frigates, which formerly served as Privateers of St. Malo, and were taken by the Spaniards in the South Sea. They sailed on the 12th Instant N. S. but it is not known to what Place, nor whether they are to join the Convoy from Cadiz, or to go directly for those Parts for which they are designed.

If the Person who on the 14th Instant wrote a Letter to Sir John Fryer, one of the Aldermen of the City of London, will apply himself to the said Sir John Fryer, and give a farther Account of what he therein proposes, he shall meet with all suitable Encouragement.
